AUTHOR BIOS AND CONTACT INFORMATION

CSIAC requests that article submissions include a brief biography, as the author's background is printed alongside published articles. Additionally, CSIAC requests that authors provide contact information (email and/or phone and/or web address), such that they can be added to the CSIAC Subject Matter Expert (SME) network, also allowing CSIAC to coordinate future interactions including questions from journal subscribers. A mailing address is also requested so that CSIAC can send 5 complementary copies of the Journal issue in which the article appears, as well as future journal releases. Up to 20 additional copies may be requested by the author at no cost.

COPYRIGHT:

Submission of an original and previously unpublished article constitutes a transfer of ownership for First Publication Rights for a period of ninety days following publication. After this ninety-day period full copyright ownership returns to the author. CSIAC always grants permission to reprint or distribute the article once published, as long as attribution is provided for CSIAC as the publisher and the Journal issue in which the article appeared is cited. The primary reason for CSIAC holding the copyright is to ensure that the same article is not published simultaneously in other trade journals. CSIAC additionally uploads articles published in the Journal to DTIC's Research and Engineering (R&E) Gateway so that the material can be later retrieved by the defense community.

The Journal enjoys a reputation of outstanding quality and value. We distribute the Journal to more than 30,000 registered CSIAC patrons free of charge and we publish it on our website where thousands of viewers read the articles each week.

FOR INVITED AUTHORS:

CSIAC typically allocates one month for an author to prepare an initial draft. Then, upon receipt of an initial draft, the Editorial Board reviews the article and works with the author to create a final draft; we allow 2 to 3 weeks for this process. CSIAC expects to have a final draft of the article ready for publication no later than 2 months after the author accepts the initial invitation.

For some Journal issues, CSIAC has a Guest Editor (based on the Journal’s technical focus) who leads the review process and interfaces with the individual authors. If you have been invited by a Guest Editor, you will submit your article directly to that individual and follow their instructions. Otherwise, articles should be emailed to Rick Nettles, Managing Editor for the Journal. Contact information is provided below.

All articles will be cleared through DTIC's public affairs office for unlimited distribution public release approval. Please avoid inclusion of material that is classified, for official use only, or military critical technology in any way.

PREFERRED FORMATS:

- Articles must be submitted electronically.
- MS-Word, or Open Office equivalent (and editable file)

SIZE GUIDELINES:

- Minimum of 1,500 – 2,000 words (3-4 typed pages using Times New Roman 12 pt font)
- Maximum of 12 pages
- Authors have latitude to adjust the size as necessary to communicate their message

IMAGES:

- Graphics and Images are encouraged.
- Print quality, 300 or better DPI. JPG or PNG format preferred

Note: Please embed the graphic images into your article to clarify where they should be placed but also send the graphics as separate files when you submit the final draft of the article. This helps to avoid sizing and resolution issues.
